Domestic Violence does not discriminate. It crosses ethnic, socio-economic, age and gender boundaries. It affects the woman living next door or the student across the street. This year's Peacemaker Awards Luncheon goes on campus to talk about our community's newest challenge. Consider this:

Approximately one out of every three students has experienced sexual, physical, verbal or emotional violence in a dating relationship. Women ages 16-24 experience the highest per capita rate of intimate partner violence.

2006 Peacemaker Awards Luncheon

The Peacemaker Awards Luncheon has become an annual event to address the widespread effects of domestic violence and recognize individuals and organizations that make positive strides to respond, educate and advocate for change.

The Peacemaker Awards were established in 1995 to recognize individuals who work to make our community a safer place. Honorees are generally selected by a panel of community leaders and past award recipients. Each recipient is presented with a glass sculpture that has been designed exclusively for CHOICES by local artist Robert Eickholt.
